

SCOTT McCLINTOCK

ENTREPRENEUR & LANDSCAPER

After CVR I headed off to John Abbott College in Social Sciences: Commerce. While at John Abbott, I began to realize that going to University wasn't for me. I hadn't enjoyed taking the academic route, and much preferred working with my hands. It was then that I started working for a lawn company, followed by a landscaping company in the West Island. I worked there for 7 years; learning and completing projects in pavé-uni, natural stone work, excavation and a variety of other landscape projects. I also worked doing snow removal in the winter. During this time period I earned my class 1 license, which allowed me to further expand my repertoire.

With a few years of experience with these various jobs, I decided that it was something I wanted to try on my own, and open my own company in the Valley. In 2014, I purchased my own 12-wheeler, shortly after a mini excavator and dump trailer, and slowly began with my own company. Since, my company has completed many patio and walkway projects with pavé-uni, mini-excavation digs, as well as, transport and delivery of gravel, sand, and topsoil.

Through the past 3 years, the company has grown from one man and one truck, to adding two additional employees, and new equipment. I hope to keep growing as the years come.

My advice is don't take a back seat in life, work hard for the things you want. Never give up on your dreams, your happiness should be number one, you're never too young or too old to achieve it.
